ROLLOVERS: Code Contract ACTION Action NEW Expiry

Rollover needs to occur because the contract expires on a specified date and needs to be either sold or settled. To Roll a contract over is actually a misnomer - the process is to sell the current contract at market value and buying the next contract at market value.

Trade Risk and Margin

We have been including the Trade Risk in the charts for people to be able to judge the comfortable Position size to fit with their trade risk parameters. It does seem that sometimes however the text on the charts becomes unreadable. With this in mind we are now including this in the reports.

How to read this and adapt to your individual circumstances - the number of CFD's shown is equivalent to the Futures Contract Size. Calculate your own trade risk as a ratio of the posted Contract Trade risk and adjust the number of CFD's accordingly

Name	Code	Contract	# of CFD's	Trade Risk	Margin
Cotton Cotton	CT	CTZ4-Dec 14 No CFD	1 Contract	$1850	$1,210
Robusta Coffee Robusta Coffee	LRC	RCU4-Sep 14 No CFD	1 Contract	$500	$1,750

To clear up any confusion over the OIL CFD's OILUK represents Brent Crude (British North Sea Oil and its contract code "LCO" is for London Crude Oil) and OILUS represents Nymex Light Sweet Crude (West Texas Intermediate known as both CL & WTI).

For some reason the Futures Contract for Heating Oil was renamed from Heating Oil to NY Harbour ULSD, the Code for this remains the same though - HO. The CFD remains the same name. There has been some confusion over this change.
